Undergraduate Catalog for Women 2018 2020

MNOR: Sy Syms School of Business

Any three upper level management courses (beyond MAN 1020).

MNOR: For Stem College Students

MAN 1020, 3015, 3780, two additional management courses and one business core course.

MAN 1020 Managing in the Global Environment 3 Credits

This course focuses on the development of the skills and knowledge required for successful managerial performance in today's global environment. With an emphasis on self-assessment and application, this course provides an in-depth examination and practice of the core managerial competencies. Topics covered include problem solving, communication, empowerment and motivation, managing conflict, power and influence, and performance improvement. A major learning objective is to recognize the relationship between integrated functional business operations and competitive success factors as well as monitoring measurements of organizational performance. Effective managers of the 21st century must understand a wide range of technical and social interrelationships to be successful in the global marketplace. Students will gain analytical and behavioral tools that will equip them to work in complex global work environments.

MAN 2110 Organizational Behavior 3 Credits

This course is directed toward the attainment of three interdependent objectives: 1) to develop an understanding of organization effectiveness as a key element of strategy implementation in complex organizations, 2) to understand how organizational planning, design, control, and human resource decisions are interdependent and critical to building and sustaining successful organizations, and 3) to develop a sensitivity to the 'realities' of organizations in 'real-world' situations. These include how decisions affect individuals in organizations and their consequent commitment to implementation efforts.

Prerequisite: MAN 1020

MAN 2370 Human Resources 3 Credits

Exploration of human resources management as a facilitator of the effective use of personnel to achieve corporate objectives.
